Message from Karen Dickerson, PTSA Co-President

As an African American parent, I was apprehensive and cautious when I began working closely with the Samohi PTSA several years ago. I wasn’t at all certain that the school’s administration, parent groups, including PTSA, and community organizations were working together toward our common goals: the safety and welfare of our children and the opportunity for all to receive a high quality public education. I believe this apprehension is how some of our parents are feeling now.

Since April 15th, many parents have told me their feelings of fear, anger, hurt, and frustration. They want to strike back at someone. They are uncomfortable with those outside what they perceive as their own group. There’s a lot of finger pointing.

Our fears and uncertainties as parents are felt by our children. Our fears and uncertainties also feed misunderstandings, exaggerate our doubts, and create a climate of conflict.

How did we ever get here? There are many reasons, some of which have nothing to do with the school and its administration. The fighting incident itself has proved less significant than its role as the convergence point for a variety of concerns in the community. In fact, it has brought into the light things that have been unspoken ends at home.

How can we expect our children to do it?

As adults and parents, we have an obligation to model for our children constructive ways to deal with our fears and our differences. We have an obligation to model a genuine willingness to work together and then to demonstrate the skills for doing so.

Right now, our children are watching how we handle our differences. They are learning from us how to manage their own differences. If we do not set aside our personal and political agendas, then we will surely fail our children and they in turn will fail to learn this life lesson. We cannot allow the adult baggage that we all carry, our fears, our past hurts and bad experiences, or our anger, to infect our children. If we cannot forgive, forget, and trust and respect each other, how can we expect our children to do it?

Samohi PTSA is a tireless advocate for the safety and welfare of all of our children. Every adult in our community has a responsibility to ensure that our children have the opportunity to learn. Learning does not begin and end in the classroom, it begins and ends at home.

Message from Dr. Straus

Dear Samohi Parents,

All of us at Samohi know that you have been concerned about the recent student conflicts and fighting on the high school campus. We share your concerns. Whether we are parents, teachers, advisors, administrators, or community members, we have a common goal: to ensure that every student at Samohi has a rewarding and successful high school experience that prepares him or her for further learning and for work.

The April 15th event has become a catalyst for positive discussion and change at the school. Students, parents, faculty, staff and community members are examining past and current practices to understand what provoked the tension. We will continue to share our findings with you as they become available. At this time, our discussions and meetings have led to some decisions that I want to describe very briefly in this letter.

Our fears and uncertainties as parents are felt by our children. The fighting incident itself has proved less significant than its role as the convergence point for a variety of concerns in the community. In fact, it has brought into the light things that have been unspoken ends at home.

The next Viking Voice will be mailed to families in July with Registration and Back-to-School information.

Thank you to the staff of Samohi’s student newsletter, The Samohi, for their thoughtful and thorough April 26th issue: “Special Edition: Lockdown at Samohi.” If you have not seen it, you can access it at http://www.samohi.smmusd.org/thesamohi/lockdown.pdf It is full of information, photos, a timeline, and opinions regarding events at Samohi on April 15th. It is well worth reading.

Things you need to know

Message from the Principal, Dr. Straus
To provide some context, I’ll begin by saying that these decisions are concurrent with the ongoing planning that many schools, including ours, undertake regularly. The redesign process, which resulted in the house system, has been underway for two years at Samohi. During the current academic year, we have continued the redesign process and have been involved in an intense internal and external review that has three goals:
- maintain accreditation by the Western Association for Schools and Colleges (WASC) and set goals for the next 3-6 years
- continue to implement our Smaller Learning Communities grant and meet the goals for years 3 - 5
- continue our own ongoing efforts to improve Samohi by improving student achievement and knowing our students well.

After the fighting incident a few weeks ago, parents and members of our larger community joined faculty, administrators, and staff to address campus tension. Key students also convened and made constructive proposals, such as reinstating peer mediation, to help students learn to resolve conflicts peacefully. These students are actively participating in our overall decision-making and improvement efforts. On the academic side, the freshman seminar course will be redesigned to include cultural studies, and history courses will include lessons that help students link historical events with current issues of diversity. Faculty, staff, advisors, and administrators will receive specialized in-service training emphasizing cultural awareness and effective ways of working with Samohi’s large and diverse student body. Through the house system, faculty and staff continue their efforts to enhance student achievement and to know our students well. In addition, house teams are seeking ways to support students and their families, develop house identities and communities, improve teaching and evaluation, and enhance communication among staff, students and parents. We intend to ensure that Samohi is a safe, harmonious school with opportunities for growth and achievement for every student who seeks them.

We know that we must continue to reevaluate our efforts and change to meet the needs of our students. Your participation is welcomed. I encourage you to participate in any of the many ways that are available to our parents, either through PTSA, AAPSSSG, SOL/ELAC, other volunteer opportunities or simply by maintaining close contact with your son or daughter’s teachers and advisor. Please help us to include you by keeping your address, email, and telephone contact information current so that we can provide you with information about your child’s activities, attendance, and academic progress. We want to make sure that you have information about important meetings and school issues.

Thank you for taking the time to read this newsletter. We want to encourage you to participate directly in the work of our community. Summer you will receive a listing of parent group meetings for 2005-2006. (Please see the calendar on the back of this newsletter for parent meetings and events in May and June.) Meanwhile, our parent leaders and community liaisons are available to you. If you have questions regarding student matters, please contact your student’s House Office. If you need further assistance, you can call my office or email me.

Tips to make your student’s registration as smooth as possible:
1. No schedules will be issued if obligations are not cleared.
2. ID photos and Binder Reminders: You must purchase both, $5 each.
3. Schedule pick up: Students may not pick up schedules before the date assigned for their grade level. You may come during your assigned date but at a different hour. You may pick up your schedule on a subsequent registration date. A parent or guardian may pick up the schedule. Someone other than a parent may also pick up your schedule if he or she brings a signed note of permission from you and goes through all the registration stations. When is the best time to prepare for the SAT?

The SAT is given 7 times per year and you can take the test as often as you like. On average, students take the test 3 times before they apply to colleges. Unfortunately, a lot of students are under the misconception that schools average their SAT scores – this is not true. Some schools (like the UCs) take your highest score in an individual sitting, while other schools (like USC) take your highest math and highest verbal score regardless of the sitting. As such, there is no penalty for taking this test numerous times.

So when should you prepare for it? Some students use the summer before their junior year as a chance to get a head start. These students take the PSAT and SAT in October of their junior year. Other students wait until the spring of their junior year to take their first SAT. It is offered at the end of March and at the beginning of May and June, so students can prepare in winter. The last group of students prepare over summer and take the test in the fall of their senior year. The test dates in the fall of senior year are the last chance before college applications are due.

¡Nuestra última publicación por este año escolar!

Mensaje de una de las Presidentas de la PTSA,
Karen Dickerson

Como una madre Afro-Americana yo me sentí con ansiedad y cautela cuando comenzé a trabajar íntimamente con la PTSA de Samohi hace varios años. No estaba segura que los administradores de la escuela, los grupos de padres, incluyendo la PTSA, y organizaciones de la comunidad estaban trabajando juntos hacia unas metas en común: la seguridad y el bienestar de nuestros niños y la oportunidad para que todos reciban una educación pública de alta calidad. Yo creo que esa ansiedad es como ahora se sienten muchos padres.

Desde el 15 de abril, muchos padres me hablaron sobre su temor, enojo, y frustración. Ellos querían vengarse con alguien. Ellos no se sienten cómodos con eso que ellos ven como fuera de su propio grupo.

Nuestro temor e incertidumbre como padres también lo sienten nuestros hijos. Nuestro miedo e incertidumbre también proviene mal entendimiento, exagera nuestras dudas, y crea un clima de conflicto.

¿Cómo llegamos aquí? Hay muchas razones, algunas no tienen nada que ver con la escuela y su administración. El incidente del pleito en sí ha sido menos significativo que su papel com punto de fusión para una variedad de preocupaciones en la comunidad. En realidad, a traído enfoque sobre las cosas que no se hablaban y no se reconocían entre nosotros en la comunidad grande, cosas que muchos les gustarían enfrentar y no habían encontrado cómo. Ahora que he trabajado íntimamente con la administración de Samohi, el personal, los maestros y la PTSA esa ansiedad y cautela que originalmente sentí han desaparecido. Aunque no estamos de acuerdo a cierto nivel, me siento que mi participación y contribución son bienvenidas y valoradas.

Como adultos y padres, tenemos la obligación de modelar para nuestros hijos maneras constructivas de enfrentar nuestros temores y nuestras diferencias. Tenemos la obligación de modelar con un deseo genuino de trabajar juntos y luego demostrar la habilidad de hacerlo.

Ahora mismo, nuestros niños están observando cómo resolvemos nuestras diferencias. Están aprendiendo de nosotros cómo ellos van a resolver sus propias diferencias. Si no tenemos una agenda personal y política, entonces pueden estar seguro que le hemos fracasado a nuestros hijos y ellos fracasarán en aprender esta lección de la vida. No podemos permitir que los problemas que llevamos de adultos, nuestro miedo, nuestras heridas del pasado y malas experiencias, que infecten a nuestros niños. Si no podemos perdonar, olvidar y confiar y respetarnos uno al otro. ¿Cómo podemos esperar que los niños lo hagan?

La PTSA de Santa Mónica aboga por la seguridad y bienestar de todos los niños. Todos los adultos en nuestra comunidad tienen la responsabilidad de asegurarse que nuestros hijos tengan la oportunidad de aprender. La enseñanza no comienza y termina en el salón de clase, comienza y termina en la casa.

Mensage de la Dr. Straus

Estimados Padres de Samohi,

Todos aquí en la escuela Samohi sabemos que usted ha estado preocupado sobre los recientes conflictos y pleitos en el campo escolar. Nosotros compartimos sus preocupaciones. Ya sea un padre, maestro, consejero, administrador, o miembro de la comunidad, tenemos unas metas en común: des asegurarnos que cada estudiante en la escuela Samohi tenga una experiencia agradable y con éxito que lo prepare para seguir aprendiendo o para trabajar.

El incidente del 15 de abril a sido un catálogo para una conversación positiva y cambios en la escuela. Los estudiantes, padre facultad, personal y miembros de la comunidad están examinando las prácticas actuales y pasadas para tratar de comprender qué provocó la tensión. Continuaremos compartiendo los que encontramos con ustedes cuando sea disponible. Ahora, nuestras conversaciones y reuniones nos han llevado a algunas decisiones que desea describir brevemente en esta carta.

Para ponerlo en contexto, comenzará diciendo que estas decisiones concurren con los planes que muchas escuelas, incluyendo la nuestra, hacen regularmente. El proceso del nuevo diseño, que resultó en el sistema de casas, ha estado en vigencia por dos años en Samohi. Durante el año académico corriente, hemos continuado el proceso empezado con el nuevo diseño y hemos estado involucrados en un intenso repaso interno y externo que tiene tres metas:

• mantener la acreditación vía el Western Association for Schools and Colleges (WASC)- Asociación del Oeste de Escuelas y Universidades y hacer metas para los próximos 3-6 años
• continuar implementando las becas y metas de Comunidades de Aprendizajes más Pequeñas para los próximos 3 - 5 años.
• continuar con nuestros esfuerzos para mejorar la escuela Samohi mejorando los logros académicos y conociendo a los estudiantes mejor.

Después del incidente de pleitos de hace varias semanas atrás, los padres y miembros de la comunidad se unieron a los administradores, y personal de la escuela para hablar de la tensión en el campo escolar. Varios estudiantes se reunieron para hacer propuestas constructivas, como instituir de nuevo la mediación entre compañeros. Estos estudiantes están activamente participando en las decisiones que se hacen generalmente. En la parte académica, el taller de los estudiantes de primer año será diseñado de nuevo para incluir estudios culturales, y las clases de historia incluirán lecciones para ayudar al estudiante a conectar eventos históricos con temas actuales sobre diversidad. La facultad, el personal, consejeros, y administradores recibirán entrenamiento especial que da énfasis a conciencia cultural y maneras efectivas de trabajar con la gran población diversa de Samohi. Mediante el sistema de las Casas la facultad y el personal continúa haciendo los esfuerzos para mejorar los rendimientos académicos de los estudiantes y a conocer bien a nuestros estudiantes.

Saben que tenemos que continuar reevaluando nuestros esfuerzos y cambiar para satisfacer las necesidades de todos los estudiantes. Su participación es bienvenida. Los ánimos a que en las muchas maneras que hay disponibles para nuestros padres, en la PTSA, AAPSSG, SOL/ELAC, otras oportunidades de voluntarios o simplemente manteniendo un estrecho contacto con el maestro o consejero de su hijo/a. Por favor ayudándonos a incluirlo manteniendo su información de contacto, dirección, correo electrónico, y teléfono al día para así poder proveerle con información sobre actividades, asistencia, y progreso académico de su hijo(a). Queremos estar seguros que tengan una información de reuniones importante sobre reuniones y temas de escuela.

Gracias por leer este boletín. Queremos animarlos a que participe directamente con el trabajo de nuestra comunidad. Este verano recibirá una lista de las diferentes reuniones de los grupos de padres para 2005 - 2006. Nuestros padres lideres y las Intermediarias de la Comunidad están disponibles para ayudarlos. Si tiene cualquier pregunta sobre su estudiante, por favor contacte a la Oficina de la Casa de su estudiante. Si necesita más asistencia, puede llamarle a mi oficina o vía correo electrónico.

Atentamente,
Ilene Straus, Ed.D., Chief Educational Officer/Directora

This is the last issue of the Viking Voice for this school year. Producing and distributing the Viking Voice is a huge yearlong effort and we hope that you have found it useful. Thank you to co-editors, Gretchen Goetz, Louise Jaffe and Maria Rodriguez – and to Linda Engel and her crew of parent volunteers for mailing out each and every copy to each and every one of you. The next Viking Voice will be mailed home in the summer registration packets.
