RE: CHANGE IN ASSIGNMENT - ADMINISTRATOR ON LOAN TO LOS ANGELES COUNTY OFFICE OF EDUCATION - AVID PROGRAM

RECOMMENDATION NO. A.14

It is recommended that the Board of Education ratify and approve the change in assignment for Lise Reilly to Administrator on Loan to Los Angeles County Office of Education, AVID Specialist.

COMMENT: In August, 2004, Los Angeles County Office of Education (LACOE) approached SMMUSD with a proposal to create a position of an "Administrator on Loan" who would work with the AVID program. This position would work with AVID schools throughout Los Angeles County but would provide specific assistance for developing the 5th grade AVID program in Santa Monica - Malibu Unified School District.

As Ms. Reilly, John Adams Middle School Principal, had already begun the year at John Adams Middle School, the contract contains an agreement that LACOE will pay for 83% of the salary and benefits (about 197) days, and SMMUSD will pay the remainder. For SMMUSD's 17% contribution, SMMUSD receives targeted assistance for our 5th Grade AVID Program.

RE: ESTABLISHMENT OF POSITION - ASSISTANT SUPERINTENDENT
SPECIAL EDUCATION

RECOMMENDATION NO. A.18

It is recommended that the Board of Education create a new position: Assistant Superintendent of Special Education, in order to successfully implement the goals the Board-adopted Special Education Strategic Plan and improve services to students.

COMMENT: Given the intensive effort, expectations and work load emanating from the Strategic Plan, it is appropriate that the Board of Education authorize the posting and hiring of an Assistant Superintendent of Special Education to oversee all of the intensive and good work taking place in the Special Education Department.

The current organizational chart has the Assistant Superintendent of Educational Services overseeing Special Education, in addition to Student and Family Support Services, Pupil Services, Professional Development and Assessment, and Educational Services. Since the end of the 2003-04 school year, the majority of the Assistant Superintendent's time has been spent on Special Education. As the needs in Special Education become more clearly delineated and require more immediate attention, it is clear that extra support is required. Staff recommends that the support come in the form of a highly qualified Assistant Superintendent of Special Education.

This position is necessary for implementation of the Special Education Strategic Plan and for improvement of services to students.

RE: AWARD BID #5.02 - CLOSED CIRCUIT SECURITY CAMERAS TO AMERITEL INC. AND AUTHORIZE INSTALLATION AT SANTA MONICA HIGH SCHOOL

RECOMMENDATION NO. A.19

It is recommended that the Board of Education approve AmeriTel as the awarding contractor for closed circuit security cameras, in an amount not to exceed $20,073.50. It is further recommended that the Board authorize their installation at Santa Monica High School.

Funding Information

Budgeted: Yes
Fund: General Fund
Source: Permits
Account number: 01-90110-0-11100-10000-4400-015-4150
Description: Instruction

COMMENT: Santa Monica High School has suffered continual incidents of vandalism on its' campus. In order to deter such acts, it has been determined that closed circuit camera be installed on the exterior of various buildings throughout the campus. Both Requests for Proposal (RFP) met the needs of the site. AmeriTel's proposal consists of analog cameras and digital processing equipment. IES's proposal was all digital equipment, using a web based retrieval system. It was determined that the AmeriTel proposal would be more cost effective, would use existing phone lines, and would not be dependant on the internet connection if the lines were non-functioning. AmeriTel is currently used by the District for telephone maintenance Districtwide.

Bids were sent to five (5) contractors; three (3) attended the job walk; two (2) responded with bids:

Vendor	Interior Cameras	Exterior Cameras	Total Bid
AmeriTel	$15,546.00	$20,073.50	$35,619.50
IES Group	$34,227.01	$38,168.12	$72,395.13

It is anticipated that ASCIP will provide reimbursement for one half of the project through its grant application process. Justification from Santa Monica High School follows:

Justification for closed circuit cameras on the Santa Monica High School campus:

Santa Monica High School has experienced repeated incidents of vandalism, graffiti, theft and other crimes against property and people. Site Governance Council at SAMOHI has spent four months researching the rationale behind installing security cameras on the exterior of campus buildings as deterrent to such crimes. Governance Council has unanimously recommended the installation of such cameras. SAMOHI requests permission from the Board of Education to implement security cameras on the exterior of campus buildings.

School administration feel strongly that the implementation of a security camera system will:

- , Act as deterrent to unwanted activities.
- , Create an increased sense of security on campus.
- , Reduce costs related to vandalism and thefts.
- , Create as record of in inappropriate activity to identify and prosecute the perpetrators.

School administration is well aware of the need to protect the privacy of its population. In accordance with this belief:

- , Information obtained through video surveillance will be used exclusively for security, safety and law enforcement purposes.
- , No audio will be recorded or monitored
- , Designated users of the system will be approved by the school Principal.
- , Recorded images will be stored on site in as secure location.

The campus of Santa Monica High School is used continuously by school staff and students as well as the community. It is imperative that we protect our population and our campus.

- P Other placement options not operated by the district include the L. A. County Community Day School.
- P Coordination between the district's alternative education schools and programs occurs during bi-weekly meetings for professional development and with principals and assistant principals from all schools. These meeting focus on the district's vision of academic success for all students and provide the opportunity to engage in joint articulation of curriculum, programs and problem-solving. In addition to these job-alike meetings, coordination is achieved through regular district-school meetings focused on implementation of instructional programs and individual student success.
- P The district recognizes that an effective program for secondary students requires quality instruction by classroom teachers in a personalized learning environment with adequate interventions and supports for student success. Both middle schools cluster students within core groups to facilitate increased contact and familiarity between students and their teachers. Continued personalization at the high school level occurs through the small size of one campus and the division of the district's largest high school of approximately 3600 students into six houses of approximately 600 students each. Intervention support includes both academic and social support programs through a variety of funding sources. The district plans to enhance these support programs for students transition from the community day school back to their middle or high school to ensure that the students receive the academic and social supports to be successful.
- P To ensure that student needs are understood by the community day school, the referral process will include a portfolio that documents the students' strengths and needs as well as a formal induction process that engages the student and his/her parent in understanding the purpose of the school and the commitment of the school, the student and the parent(s) to ensure student success.
- P Student assignment procedures for the community day school are based on student choice as well as referral through a formal district transfer process. The student and his/her parent will have the opportunity to meet with the district transfer team who will determine the appropriateness of placement at the community day school.

- P Prior to a referral to the community day school, schools are required to provide differentiated instruction and targeted support to students at-risk including such supports as Student Success Team, tutorials, and the Alliance program. The application for a community day school is based on the district's recognition of the value of additional alternative placement options for youth.
- P The referral process is based on a comprehensive diagnosis of the student's educational and interpersonal assets and challenges, including a review of the student's academic performance and interventions, attendance history, and behavioral and interpersonal functioning. As part of the induction process, students will have individualized learning plans to guide their instructional and behavioral support plan at the community day school.
- P In addition to students who are referred to the community day school on the basis of expulsion, probation or SARB, other students will be identified for whom the larger educational setting has not been productive. It is the expectation of the community day school that it will serve students who can be more successful in a very small learning environment that addresses their unique learning styles and utilizes project-based learning strategies.
- P The district's office of Pupil Services provides on-going interface with the probation department and will coordinate placement and support for students' transition from camp/probation to the community day school through the district transfer referral and induction process.
- P The Community Day School will be able to serve students in grades seven through twelve. The program will begin, however, with students in grades nine through twelve to be taught in a general education/special education collaborative/blended program. Students will be instructed by one credentialed general education teacher, one credentialed (mild-moderate) special education teacher, and one three-hour instructional assistant.
- P The community day school curriculum includes an emphasis on pro-social skills and resiliency components in conjunction with both the core curriculum and career development. The curriculum will include reflective journal writing, activities that address pro-social, resiliency development and interpersonal skills as well as time management and organizational skills. A Special Ed teacher will be assigned to serve IWEN where appropriate. RSP students will be mainstreamed within this program and provided assistance as specified in their IEP.
- P The teams are divided into two groups for the remainder of the morning, during which they receive instruction in English, Social Science, Math, and Science. After lunch, they participate in a variety of instructional activities including physical education, music, and other electives. The sixth hour focuses on tutorial students who work independently on assignments or skill building activities. During that hour peer counselors, college student tutors, and community members volunteer to work with and provide individual assistance to the students. Students will have access to the same high level technology as all district secondary students. Students will be exposed to Computer Assisted Instruction as well as diagnostic programs that will help prescribe specific learning skills to develop.

- P Each student who is placed in the Community Day School is transferred with a copy of his/her transcript and, if applicable, the educational plan developed by the counselor at the home school. The teacher in the Community Day School designs a course of study within the core courses that meets the student's needs and writes a contract with the student that includes the instructional plan. All students participate in the state assessment and accountability system and the individual results are analyzed both to determine areas of instructional need and to demonstrate academic progress. Students work is reviewed by the teacher and instructional aide on a daily basis and students are periodically tested in subject matter areas. Individual instruction is provided by the teacher as well as by instructional aide, peer counselors, college student tutors, and community volunteers. Progress toward credits earned and courses completed is formally reviewed every six weeks with a written grade and credit report mailed to parents at that interval.

- P Teachers will have access to student management system to help monitor student attendance, transcripts, as well as student achievement data. This information will be helpful when teachers contact parents and communicate how students are monitored and progressing in their learning environment. Teachers and counselors will be working with outside agencies to provide services for both students and parents. Information will be shared with parents and students during an extensive orientation period with all our school resource specialists. It is our hope that students and parents clearly understand not only the expectations and contractual obligation but also understand the services we provide to assist our students during this rehabilitation process.

- P A district wide articulation will take place with the middle and high school to determine how students will return back to their home school after the students has fulfilled their contract and Individual Learning Plan. The home school will need to establish a plan with the administrators, counseling staff and teachers as to how they will accept and work with the transitional student. A professional staff development plan needs to address this issue.

5. LOCATION

The Santa Monica-Malibu USD Board of Education on November 4, 2004 had discussion and agreed to proceed with the Community Day School to be located at a selected off-campus facility within the city of Santa Monica. The proposed site includes classrooms with computer access, a multipurpose instructional room, a gymnasium and outdoor recreational facilities. The Santa Monica Police Department is present at the site and available to help develop positive relationships with the students.

6. ADMINISTRATION

The Principal of Olympic Continuation School will supervise the Community Day School. The Director of the Adult Education Program will serve as the Assistant Principal. The Principal and/or the Assistant Principal will always be available to support the teachers and staff at the CDS. Under the supervision of the Principal, all district wide services will be coordinated for student support.

7. PERIODIC SELF-STUDY

Because this is a new school, a formal self-study has not been conducted. However, self-review is to be on-going throughout this first year of operation. Elements of that review include a detailed review of student assessment data and school records, establishment of program goals and individual student objectives, every six weeks student progress review, midyear assessment of program effectiveness, adjustments in program goals for second semester, April review and development of goals for the following year, review of student achievements and recommendations of student placement for the following semester during final six weeks of each semester. The CDS will participate in the new ASAM accountability model. The CDS will participate in the WASC accreditation process once it has been established and qualifies for such as review.

RE: ADOPT RESOLUTION 04-08 - ANNUAL DELEGATION OF ADMINISTRATIVE AUTHORITY TO PROCESS NON-ROUTINE
BUDGET REVISIONS, ADJUSTMENTS, AND TRANSFERS

RECOMMENDATION NO. A.22

It is recommended that the Board of Education adopt Resolution Number 04-08 Annual Delegation of Administrative Authority to Process Non-Routine Budget Revisions, Adjustments, and Transfers. This Resolution will provide authority for John E. Deasy and Winston A. Braham to authorize non-routine revisions, adjustments and transfers, which changes our overall "frozen" District budget, in an amount not to exceed $50,000 [aggregate]. This, amongst others, will benefit the required mandated Individual Education Plans (IEPs) compliance and/or Special Education settlements or arrangements.

COMMENTS: Superintendent John E. Deasy and Chief Financial Officer Winston A. Braham already have been approved by the Board of Education as signatories for the Certification of Authorized Signatures, as required by the Los Angeles County Office of Education (LACOE). With far-reaching legal "mission-critical" matters the ability to execute Budget Adjustments (B/A) prior to Board Action will expedite the processing of FTE adjustments in advance of Board authorization. This authorization scope will adhere to fiscal best practices, SMMCTA and SEIU bargaining agreements as well as LACOE/Education Code regulations.

RE: FURTHER UPDATE - EDISON SCHOOL SAFETY STUDY

DISCUSSION ITEM NO. D.1

Following discussion and reports by the superintendent and staff at the November 4, 2004 meeting and as a follow-up to the school safety concerns, all of the items identified as a result of the safety audit are in place as either being prepared to be implemented or are already completed. (Refer to Safety Audit, Board agenda 11/04/04.) As was stated, the fencing around the parking lot will be completed during the winter break.

As a result of conversations with City staff, it is recommended that broader community safety concerns should be dealt with through existing organizational structures between the City and the School District. Traffic circulation concerns relating to the incident will be the subject of a community workshop at Edison School on November 16 and a follow up report and meeting are planned to be held in January as was promised by the City and School District. At this point, any additional concerns emerging from safety issues outside of school property are most appropriately handled by (and are being addressed by) the City.

Community safety issues not addressed in the District's safety audit of Edison School are beyond the jurisdiction and allowed funding of the public schools. However, investigations of those concerns are being addressed by the City of Santa Monica. The District maintains a very positive ongoing relationship with City agencies and looks forward to maintaining and strengthening that relationship through continued collaborative efforts.

Discussion by the Board of Education resulted in the following direction to staff:

Staff will bring back a an update for a plan to expand the safety audit/assessment to include threats from outside the school property and investigate how to mitigate those events. District will work with a variety of agencies to limit exposure to the Board. The framework around the January community meeting will be a collaboration that may involve state legislators as well.

RE: HIGH SCHOOL SCIENCE SEQUENCE

DISCUSSION
11/18/04

DISCUSSION ITEM NO. D.2

The high school science program in Santa Monica-Malibu is based on a course sequence of biology at 9th grade, chemistry at 10th grade and the choice of additional and advanced placement science courses at 11th and 12th grade. This course sequence is designed to provide students with the preparation and opportunity for success in advanced science study.

Recent changes to the state assessment program mandated by the No Child Left Behind Act includes testing at 10th grade in the 7th grade life science and high school biology standards. Students are prepared for this assessment through rigorous course work in their middle school and high school courses. The high school science departments are developing a biochemistry strand for 9th and 10th grade students designed to deepen the knowledge and understanding of the biology standards.

The staff seeks the board's endorsement of the described high school science course sequence.

RE: REPLACEMENT OF POLICY 4142.1 - ARTS EDUCATION

RECOMMENDATION NO. D.3

It is recommended that the Board of Education adopt Board Policy 6142.6 Visual and Performing Arts Education to replace Board Policy 4142.1 Arts Education.

COMMENT: The numbering system for California School Board Policies has changed for arts education from 4142.1 to 6142.6. The name of the policy has also been changed from Arts Education to Visual and Performing Arts Education, to reflect the California State Framework on the Visual and Performing Arts. Therefore, it is recommended that Policy 4142.1 be deleted (a copy is included in this packet), and replaced with the updated Policy 6142.6.

The new policy language:

- # Includes essential elements of the State Framework on Visual and Performing Arts, including artistic perception, creative expression, historical and cultural context and aesthetic valuing
- # Addresses the need for standards-based instruction
- # Insures equitable access for all students in all grades
- # Approves collaboration with the Local Arts Education Partnership Program
- # Sets guidelines for the membership of the local steering committee.

Tom Whaley, Coordinator Fine Arts and Linda Gross, Director Santa Monica Malibu Education Foundation presented this item to the Board. Slight changes in wording were suggested and are underlined and bold (additions) or indicated with a strikethrough (deleted). This policy will return for action.

The Board of Education recognizes that by studying visual and performing arts, students learn to develop initiative, discipline, perceptual abilities and critical and creative thinking skills that extend to all areas of life. The Board shall offer direct, systematic and intensive supplemental instruction for students in grades 7-12 who do not demonstrate "sufficient progress" toward passing the state exit examination required for high school graduation. (Education Codes 37252, 60851)

OPTION 2: For purposes of determining students' eligibility for supplemental instruction, "sufficient progress" toward passing the high school exit examination shall be determined by students' grades and other indicators of academic achievement designated by the board including performance on district assessments and the California Standards Test.

Whenever a school receiving federal Title I funds fails to make adequate yearly progress, as defined by the State Board of Education, for three or more consecutive school years, supplemental educational services shall be provided outside the regular school day to eligible students from low-income families. Services shall be selected by parents/guardians from an approved list of service providers and shall specifically be designed to increase eligible students' achievement on state academic assessments and to assist them in attaining state academic standards. (20 USC 6316)

As state funding, facilities and staffing permit, supplemental instruction may be offered to:

1. Students in grades 2-6 who have been identified as being at risk of retention pursuant to Education Code 48070.5. (Education Code 37252.8)
2. Students in grades 2-6 who have been identified as having a deficiency in mathematics, reading or written expression based on the results of the Standardized Testing and Reporting Program. (Education Code 37252.8)
3. Students in grades K-12, including English language learners, who need or desire intensive English language and literacy instruction. (Education Codes 422-424)
4. As additional funding permits, students in grades K-12 who seek enrichment in mathematics, science or other core academic areas designated by the Superintendent of Public Instruction. (Education Code 37253; 5 CCR 11472)

The programs described in items 4-6 above shall be offered during summer school except when facilities constraints or other educational reasons make it not feasible to offer these programs during summer school, in which case they may be offered before school, after school, on Saturday and/or during intersessions. (Education Code 423, 53029, 53093)

AUTISM PROGRAM QUALITY INDICATORS

The Autism Program Quality Indicators (APQI) are a compilation of the best practices in educating students with autism, which were developed to serve as a means of guiding quality improvement activities for schools and programs serving children with autism in New York State.

Structure and Content of the APQI

The APQI are organized into the following 14 areas with the seven categories in the left-hand column relating to the specific aspects of the educational process for students, and the seven categories in the right-hand column referring more broadly to program characteristics and supports.

- | | |
|---|---|
| • Individual Evaluation | • Family Involvement and Support |
| • Development of the Individualized Education Program (IEP) | • Inclusion |
| • Curriculum | • Planning the Move from One Setting to Another |
| • Instructional Activities | • Challenging Behavior |
| • Instructional Methods | • Community Collaboration |
| • Instructional Environments | • Personnel |
| • Review and Monitoring of Progress and Outcomes | • Program Evaluation |

Each of the 14 areas is described by a single summary sentence, followed by more specific "quality indicators." The items contained within the APQI do not reflect specific instructional strategies or theoretical approaches. Instead, they reflect methods that have consistently been found to be effective in improving learning in children with autism. Additionally, where items reflect practices that are broadly appropriate to educating all children (e.g., involving and supporting families in the educational process), the APQI focus on those aspects most important for educating students with autism.¹

How should the APQI be used?

The APQI were developed to apply to programs that serve children between the ages of 3 and 21, on the full range of the autism spectrum (including Asperger syndrome and Pervasive Developmental Disorder–Not Otherwise Specified {PDD-NOS}) and ability levels, and in all educational settings. Some items may, therefore, not apply to every program. The purpose of the APQI is to provide a tool for schools or programs to self-evaluate educational services as a whole rather than an evaluation of services provided to any specific child. A program would rate itself on the degree to which there is evidence supporting that a particular item or practice is in place. In this way, the APQI may serve as a quality improvement tool in which programs note relative strengths and weaknesses. Given the indicators cover such a wide range of educational practices, it is highly unlikely that any program would have clear evidence of every quality indicator.

Development of the APQI

The APQI were developed over a one-year period by the New York Autism Network (NYAN) at the request of the Office of Vocational and Educational Services for Individuals with Disabilities (VESID) of the New York State Education Department. NYAN is a consortium of four regional centers with a shared focus of promoting effective educational approaches for students with autism. NYAN is funded by the New York State Education Department.

The items on the APQI were derived from a variety of sources including federal and State law and regulations, scientific evidence, and professional experience. The APQI were developed first by examining the professional literature to identify likely dimensions for the scale. The next step was to identify key quality components specific to autism in each of these areas. A preliminary draft of the APQI was field tested with the NYAN regional advisory groups. Information from the advisory groups was compiled into a working draft of the APQI (dated 11/6/00) that was shared with national experts and VESID representatives for their comments. These comments led to a significant re-focusing of the APQI on making it as autism specific as possible. A number of interim versions were shared with NYAN staff, representatives from programs and advocacy groups, national experts, and VESID staff. The resulting document (6/15/01) has been strengthened considerably by the input of these many people.

Scoring the APQI

The APQI uses a four-point rating system, plus a Not Applicable rating, as follows:

Score	Description
NA	Not applicable. The program is not responsible for this area.
0	There is no evidence of this indicator.
1	There is minimal to no evidence of this indicator, but clear evidence exists that the program is in the process of planning for implementation and/or staff development in this area.
2	There is some evidence of this indicator or there is clear evidence of the indicator for only a portion of students with autism.
3	This quality indicator is clearly evident for all students with autism.

These ratings can be applied to each of the items and a summary rating can be given to each area. A summary table at the end of the scale allows programs to identify areas of relative strength and weakness.

The Multi-Sensory Classroom: A Pilot Project in Special Education

The Multi-Sensory Classroom: A Pilot Project in Special Education

Lisa Y. Johnson

Special Education in SMMUSD

The Santa Monica Malibu Unified School District (SMMUSD) puts forth great effort to provide an excellent education to the children in its care. The District Mission Statement illustrates the SMMUSD outlook as a community of learners, stating that SMMUSD “works together in a nurturing environment to help students be visionary, versatile thinkers; resourceful, life-long learners; effective, multi-lingual communicators and global citizens.”

These efforts have led to a number of successes in the district. However, Special Education remains at a critical juncture. This is partly because SMMUSD lacks the personnel resources to meet the needs of many children with special needs. Currently, the district contracts with outside agencies to meet the needs of these children, spending countless hours of expensive mediation, court fees, services and labor-hours in an attempt to acquire a highly rigorous, appropriate education. According to last year’s budget, SMMUSD spent 3 million dollars to hire non-district personnel to provide services to children’s needs that could not be met in the district. Further, the situation is likely to intensify, as the number of students entering Special Education and the associated cost of educating them are rising.

This critical juncture is also one of programming. Overlooked by the district’s strategic plan, special education programming has remained in virtual suspension with limited innovation. In particular, the traditional approach to Special Education used in the district often means piecemeal and unsystematic programming to meet children’s needs. Teachers lack the systematic methods and interdisciplinary tools needed for a holistic approach to students’ needs and learning, and students’ progress is limited by the lack of such an approach. While Individual Education Plans (IEP) identify particular deficits in students, roadmaps for how to treat those deficits are not currently developed. Some students receive the benefits of specialized services to address deficits, but in doing so, they miss the opportunity for a coherent and cohesive school experience. When shuttled from outside activity to outside activity, they miss being in the classroom with their peers, and their socio-emotional development becomes stunted, which in turn, limits their intellectual development and growth. Other students remain in the classroom but miss the specialized services.

What is needed is a systematic, interdisciplinary, and cost-effective approach to Special Education that involves ongoing identification of students’ needs, resources for the treatment of those needs, and an efficient implementation plan for executing that treatment. I propose to pilot a Multi-Sensory Classroom in an existing Special-Day class at Grant Elementary School. This interdisciplinary program is designed to identify and treat the developmental needs that block students’ learning. In particular, the program uses the six domains of learning recommended by the National Research Council (NRC): Communication Deficit, School Development, Cognitive Development, Sensory Motor, Adaptive Behavior and Problem Behavior. Using the Developmental Individual-Differences Relationship Model (DIR; Greenspan and Wieder, 1998), this class will adopt a systematic, interdisciplinary approach to working with different sensory/cognitive/behavioral deficits. In addition, I will collect pre- and post-program data to evaluate the effectiveness of the program for increasing learning and social development, as compared to the traditional approach currently used in special education.

The Work Plan

Each child develops sensory/motor preskills at a very young age (e.g., auditory processing, fine and gross motor skills, visual perception, reflexes, tactile processing, sensory modulation). These bottom levels of sensory/motor development are often taken for granted because they are basic and develop automatically in the typically developing child. When we teach a student at school, the child uses these sensory/motor preskills as a foundation for learning. Children in whom these preskills have not fully developed find learning difficult if not impossible; they become our special-needs children. Without the appropriate developmental foundation, they cannot build the abstract thinking skills we try to teach them in school.

In my class this year, I will test each child for his/her level of basic developmental preskills and target identified deficits in individual learning plans. By targeting these deficit areas, students will be able to grow or move past the roadblocks that prevent higher level learning. Specifically, each child will be assessed in the following areas with the following expected assessment test:

Preskill	Expected Assessment
Auditory Processing	Linda Mood Auditory Conceptualize: Test: Sound and Symbol Association (Decoded); Nonsense Spelling Symbol Imagery Test (Idea for a Picture)
Occupational Therapy Reflexes Testing	Movement Assessment Battery for Children Rigidity of movement, poor handwriting, gaps in athletic performance, especially in throwing or catching, clumsiness, bumping into things, dis-coordination, poor ocular tracking, poor rhythm, difficulty in showing usual expected response to intervention procedures
Visual perception	Wachs Test of Cognitive Structure: General Movement, Discriminative Movement and Visual Thinking
Tactile Processing	Reflex Learning and Behavior, Sally Goddard (2004)
Sensory Modulation, including tactile, sound, vestibular proprioceptive, olfactory, taste, pain and sight	Reflex Learning and Behavior, Sally Goddard (2004)
Cognitive	Peabody Picture Vocabulary Test-II
Speech Pathology	OWLS: Listening Comprehension (LCS) & Oral Expression (OES) Scale

After assessments are completed, I will develop an individualized learning plan for each student according to her/his stage of learning readiness. Along with their IEP goals each child will be guided to master general gross/sensory skills that, in turn, is expected to produce a higher level of learning. These plans will meet each child at his/her own developmental level to build up the necessary foundational preskills. I will work with Swithin David, a visual perceptual therapist and student at the University of Rochester, New York, to develop the appropriate individualized plans. This pilot class will be associated with the Brain and Cognitive Science Department of Rochester University.

These plans will be implemented using the DIR model (Greenspan and Wieder, 1998). The DIR model approaches each child individually and examines biological, sensory and behavioral milestones. At its core, the DIR model emphasizes the use of socio-emotional relationships as a vehicle to enhance a child's progress. DIR guides children up the developmental levels through seemingly playful interactions; it has given children the gift of educational readiness often thought beyond their reach. Each child has unique strengths and weaknesses; when we believe children's skills are uniform, we deny them the chance to grow. DIR provides that room and the structure needed for each child to have the chance to grow.

Parents of the students in my class will give permission for their child to participate in this program. This participation will include assessment permission and videotaping (which will be used for assessment), teacher learning purposes, and possible conference presentations.

The expectation is not that every child in the Special-Day class will miraculously become a genius. Rather, higher-level thinking skills such as math, reading comprehension, and critical and abstract thinking, will be able to progress when these basic preskill levels are addressed with the use of data and experience. At the present time, all of my students are limited in what they understand and internalize in these higher-level thinking areas, making learning a task that is painful and sometimes impossible. With individualized learning plans that are based on established scientific assessment tools and are executed in a multi-sensory classroom, the ceiling on these students should begin to open.

Budget

The multi-sensory classroom at Grant Elementary School for the pilot year will be funded by volunteer and outside sources. No cost to the district will be incurred.

Conclusion

Students who complete the year in the multi-sensory classroom will be able to experience continuity in their education with instructors and peer groups. This kind of specialized public school community allows for children's appropriate social and emotional development. The integrated approach to each student, identifying and addressing deficits in a specialized and centralized setting, will enable them to learn more than they otherwise could. In addition, the implementation of an interdisciplinary approach directly follows the projected goals for special education in SMMUSD's Special Education Strategic Plan, accepted by the board in June 2004. A successful pilot program that encompasses all domains in a public school will offer an innovative approach to meeting the needs of all children with special needs. Finally, it will do so using personnel already in the district. The multi-sensory classroom offers an innovative and cost-effective way to provide specialized services to special-needs children in their own classroom.

Dear Parents,

Welcome to the new school year! My name is Ms. Lisa Johnson and I am your child's teacher. I am excited about the new year. I believe with all my heart that every child has the ability to learn and grow. Every child is an individual and approaches learning differently. I propose to pilot a Multi-Sensory Classroom at Grant Elementary School. This interdisciplinary program is designed to identify and treat the developmental needs that block students' learning. Each child develops sensory/motor pre skills at a very young age (e.g., auditory processing, fine and gross motor skills, visual perception, reflexes, tactile processing, sensory modulation). These bottom levels of sensory/motor development are often taken for granted because they are basic and develop automatically in the typically developing child. When we teach a student at school, the child uses these sensory/motor pre skills as a foundation for learning. Children in whom these pre skills have not fully developed find learning difficult if not impossible; they become our special-needs children. Without the appropriate developmental foundation, they cannot build the abstract thinking skills we try to teach them in school.

In my class this year, with parental consent, I will test each child for his/her level of basic developmental pre skills and target identified deficits in individual learning plans. By targeting these deficit areas, students will be able to grow or move past the roadblocks that prevent higher level learning.

After assessments are completed, I will develop an individualized learning plan for each student according to her/his stage of learning readiness. Along with their IEP goals each child will be guided to master general gross/sensory skills that, in turn, is expected to produce a higher level of learning. These plans will meet each child at his/her own developmental level to build up the necessary foundational pre skills. I will work with Swithin David, a visual perceptual therapist and student at the University of Rochester, New York, to develop the appropriate individualized plans.

These plans will be implemented using the DIR model (Greenspan and Wieder, 1998). The DIR model approaches each child individually and examines biological, sensory and behavioral milestones. At its core, the DIR model emphasizes the use of socio-emotional relationships as a vehicle to enhance a child's progress. DIR guides children up the developmental levels through seemingly playful interactions; it has given children the gift of educational readiness often thought beyond their reach. Each child has unique strengths and weaknesses; when we believe children's skills are uniform, we deny them the chance to grow. DIR provides that room and the structure needed for each child to have the chance to grow.

If you give permission for their child to participate in this program please sign and date below. This participation will include: gross motor activities (trampoline, balance beam on the floor, body mapping, and reflexes), assessment permission and videotaping (which will be used for assessment), teacher learning purposes, and possible conference presentations.

Our class is located in Room 46 across from the grassy quad. We have the privilege of having wonderful Paraprofessionals that assist in the success of our classroom. Ms. Badlissi and Mr. Sherman have the best interest of your child at heart. We welcome your feedback, visits and interaction. I will be available for conferencing on the phone or in person on Tuesday from 11:20 to 12:20 pm. I will return all messages after school hours between 3:00 pm-3:30 pm. I look forward to working with you and your child. Let's have a fun year!
